Dear Parents/Guardians,

Over the next four weeks, Helena School District second graders will take the Cognitive Abilities Test (CogAT). The CogAT test measures your child's reasoning abilities for verbal, nonverbal and quantitative reasoning. These results indicate your student's aptitude in these academic areas, as well as where your child may need support. In addition, the Helena School District uses this assessment in the identification process for our Gifted and Talented Program.

- Testing will be delivered by your child's home school teacher. If you have questions regarding testing days specific to your child's school, please contact the school's principal.

If you have questions regarding testing days specific to your child's school, please contact the school's principal.

Respectfully,

Kaitlyn Hess
