Insider's Guide to Giftedness

"One of the "great gripes of gifted" is that no one ever explains what giftedness is. Instead, giftedness is kept a big secret. It really should NOT be that way! Join us as we crack open the secret vault of giftedness and uncover what giftedness is and isn't. Together we explore strategies for talking with gifted kids, families, and teachers about the gifted experience. This informative and engaging session will equip you with a collection of ready-to-use activities related to perfectionism, identity development, imposter syndrome, and developing your own superpower. Finally, we will discuss a step-by-step strategy for advocating for the necessity of gifted programs in your community."
